Web: Which Vehicle Represents You?

Sub: Where Subaru Is Strong, But Ford Rules

blurb: Smashing the notion that SUV's dominate the state, a TheDenverChannel.com finds Colorado prefers pickups.

If you're not driving a dark blue, Ford pickup, look to your left or right, chances are good the commuter next to you is.

A comprehensive study of state driving records shows SUV's aren't as popular as you might imagine.

The data below comes from the Colorado Department of Revenue and April, 2009 with 5,086,672 registered vehicles.

From Aurora to Broomfield, Granby to Platteville, Ford pickups are consistently at the top of the list for largest ownership bloc.

We used state figures that only track registered vehicles with at least 50 units for each particular zip code.

The second most popular is then listed in parentheses, unless it's the same model and make. (think: another Ford pickup)

For example, if you live in the 80501 zip code of Longmont, there are 276 1999 Ford pickups in that area. And the # (2) vehicle? A 2001 Ford pickup with 221 owned in that area. The top 10 entries there are trucks, with one Chevy and one Dodge on the list.

Go to Steamboat Springs or Boulder however, you find Subaru wagons dominate the 80487 and 80301.

As you read the chart below, here are the categories:

Zip Code	Year	Make	Model	# Registered	() 2nd most
----------	------	------	-------	--------------	--------------

Common/other make	Notes
-------------------	-------

We also made contact with several auto dealerships to get a sense of which color or particular model may be represented most often in this survey.

For Ford, the F-150 is the dominant pickup, according to Burt Automotive.

The 1997 and 1999 dark blue models, with a new, rounded body shape and a third door sold extremely well.

As for Ford SUV's, the Explorer in white is likely to be seen on Colorado roadways most often.

In sedans, a silver 2008 Taurus has plenty of company.

Mike Shaw Chevrolet said a 2000 white Silverado half-ton would be their most popular pickup, with a 2002 and 2005 gold Blazer their top selling SUV.

In Chevy sedans, despite cool muscle cars like the Camaro, it's the 2008, gold Malibu that sold well.

You'll see several strong showings for Jeep in the data.

An experienced Medved staffer said a black, 2004 Grand Cherokee is likely to be their top seller, along with another black, 1999 version.

The Wrangler still sells very well here to, with black and red the dominant shades.

Toyota fared best among foreign-owner manufacturers and a spokesman at Stevinson Toyota in Aurora said the 2007, silver Camry is their # 1 car.

A gold, 1997 version also drove off the lot repeatedly, as did the 2008, silver Highlander and white, 2007 RAV-4.

A salesman at Jerry Morris Broadway Dodge in Denver said sales of the 2001 and 2006 pickups could be a draw between the three-quarter ton Ram 2500 and the half-ton Ram 1500. as both were quite successful.

One of the few luxury vehicles represented in state data is the BMW sedan.

A staffer at Ralph Schomp BMW said the black, 2008 328xi sold best.

Honda was the other common foreign-owned manufacturer represented often in the survey.

A salesperson at Mile Hi Honda in Aurora said the silver, 2002 Accord, the silver 2007 Pilot, and the green 2004 Pilot were the top selling sedans and SUV's for those years.

As you'll notice, Boulderites seem to love their Subaru.

At Boulder Flatirons Acura the white or silver, 2005 Outback wagon, the white 2003 Outback, the silver 2002 Outback, and the blue 1999 Outback all sold very well.
